Indorsed at Fifth Congressional District Conference.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Danville, Va., July 25.—At the educational conference of the Fifth Congressional District, recently adjourned at Martinsville, resolutions were passed declaring that the State should increase its appropriation to the teachers' pension fund to the extent of covering any deficit which would make it necessary to prosecute the amounts due the beneficiaries of this fund, and that it was the opinion of the conference that the women of Virginia should have the advantages of higher education and that the State should provide means similar to that afforded by the University of Virginia; also that a committee be appointed to increase the interest in interschool contests, literary and athletic.

FOREIGN FOREMAN INSTANTLY KILLED

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Roanoke, Va., July 25.—A party of fifteen Greeks and Austrians was held up early yesterday morning near Bandy, Tazewell county, by negroes in ambush, and as a result of a volley of shots fired by the negroes, Michael Ugorsky was instantly killed.

Ugorsky was a foreman of a construction camp on Dry Fork, and it is said he incurred the enmity of the negroes.

The foreigners escaped from the camp of negroes, and in their flight left their companion, who was shot. The body of the body was found riddled with bullets and badly beaten with sticks and stones. The negroes escaped.

DISFIGURING ECZEMA CURED IN 2 WEEKS

Blisters Broke and Formed Scabs. Nose Covered with Them. Very Itchy. Used Cuticura Remedies. Now Hasn't a Single Mark.

"My nephew first showed signs of eczema on the middle finger, and it came out like a blister. His mother thought he had gotten a burn in some way unknown to her, and she treated it as such. He must have rubbed his face with that hand, as it then broke out on his nose the same way. When the blisters broke, they shriveled up and formed scabs. His nose was covered with scabs, and it was very itchy. He was badly disfigured with unsightly scabs. At first, his nose was sore, and it gradually became worse so his mother took him to the doctor. He gave her some preparation, and told her to rub the scabs off every day, and anoint the affected part with the medicine he gave her.

"The man must have been insane, as that was extreme torture to the child who was only two years old to the time, and that was two years ago. Well, we decided that that treatment would have to end. I suggested Cuticura Ointment and they bought it and put it on freely every day for two weeks. He had the eczema for four weeks altogether, but was getting gradually worse until they used the Cuticura Remedies, and he was cured in two weeks. He most certainly would have been scarred with the other treatment, but now he hasn't a single mark. Cuticura Remedies cured him in two weeks, and now we always keep them in the house." (Signed) Miss Ida Slavin, 283 South Fifth St., Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4, 1911.

For more than a generation the Cuticura Remedies have afforded the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp of infants, children and adults. A cake of Cuticura Soap (25c) and a box of Cuticura Ointment (50c), are often sufficient. Although sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin will be sent free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 13A, Boston.

INJURIES TO CHILD MAY PROVE FATAL

Fell on Prongs of Pitchfork. Boy Scouts Go on "Hike."

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Harrisonburg, Va., July 25.—Ruth Martin, twelve years old, daughter of Rev. J. Snively, of Hinton, Rockingham county, is not expected to live. Two weeks ago she fell from her father's motor wagon, landing on one of the prongs of a pitchfork which she held in her hand. The prong entered the child's forehead just above the eye, going four inches into the brain.

The girl's right arm and left leg were totally paralyzed, but for a week hopes were entertained for her recovery. Last Thursday she became worse, and yesterday a second operation was performed.

When the child fell from the wagon the father jumped into the road, picked up the body and ran 300 yards to a barn, where physicians were summoned.

This morning Rev. John L. Jackson, the Episcopal rector, who came here from Baltimore a year ago, is on a cross-country hike with a squad of boy scouts. They will do their own cooking and will spend several days at the home of Rev. J. R. Ellis, who is doing mission work at Yancey, in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Young People's Christian Endeavor Union closed in Edinburg, after a session of two days. L. A. Armentrout, of Roanoke, was elected president for the eighth time, and was surprised by the gift of a purse of $25 from the convention in behalf of his faithful work. Other officers elected were as follows: J. R. Swank, of Rockingham, vice-president; Miss Grace Fries, of Winchester, recording secretary; W. O. Moubay, of Singer's Glen, corresponding secretary; J. L. Gleaves, of Martinsburg, Va., treasurer; Miss Edna Ritchie, of Rockingham, junior superintendent; Rev. C. H. Crowell, of Lacey Spring, general superintendent. The annual address was delivered by Dr. W. O. Fries, of Dayton, Ohio. The place for the 1912 meeting is yet to be decided.

Near Cross Keys, Rockingham county, unknown vandals placed dynamite under E. Henkle's gate, destroying it and endangering his property. Vehicles and road-making machinery were taken to pieces during the night and scattered along the road and in fields for miles around. Fences were let down and cattle driven into various cornfields. The authorities are on the watch for the outlaws.

Glass Declares Governor Lost Splendid Opportunity of Appointing Anderson.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lexington, Va., July 25.—More than 200 citizens of Rockbridge gathered in the courthouse to-day to hear Congressman Carter Glass, of Lynchburg, discuss the issues of the senatorial campaign.

He made a strong speech, which was greeted cordially by his audience. Mr. Glass paid his respects to the Democratic "machine," without the endorsement of which, he declared, no man stood much show for political preferment. Mr. Glass asserted that he had entered the race for United States Senator only after others who opposed the "machine" had declined to make the fight.

As to his opponent, Governor Mann's temporary appointee, he said that his reputed business administration as Governor of Virginia had left the State with a big deficit, although Governor Mann had turned over to him a large surplus.

Mr. Glass deplored the fact that the "machine" had not thought it wise to grant to the opposition a successor to the lamented John W. Daniel, and Governor Mann had let pass a splendid opportunity of appointing William A. Anderson, a lame Civil War soldier of Lexington, to succeed John W. Daniel, the "Lame Lion" of Lynchburg.
